ducks &dogs ARE all-weather FRIENDS

Remember when we said we'd see you in cooler months?
We've changed our minds.
For the first time, dogs are welcome inside our designated air-conditioned tent area throughout the summer season.
So while the grass takes a break, your pub visits don't have to.

BECAUSE SUMMER IS BETTER TOGETHER.

DOG-FRIENDLY AREA GUIDELINES

To help keep the space safe, comfortable and enjoyable for all guests, please note:

- Dogs are permitted only within the designated pet-friendly tent area.
- Dogs must remain on a lead at all times.
- Dogs are not permitted on tables, chairs or other dining furniture.
- Please use the designated pet access points when entering and exiting.
- Owners are responsible for ensuring their dogs are well behaved and supervised at all times.
- Please help us keep the area clean and comfortable for everyone.

According to legend, English sailors used to be bribed with coins to join the navy, and, many times, they would be tricked into joining by being given a beer with a coin at the bottom of the glass. Men began to say "bottoms up" to their drinking partners so that they could see if coins were hidden inside of the glasses before the drinks were finished.

DUCK SPEAK

FEELING PECKISH? Are you hungry?

BOTTOMS UP! To drink the contents of one's beverage. Literally to tilt the bottom of one's glass upward until it is empty.

A LITTLE BIRDIE TOLD ME I heard it on the grapevine

DUCKING AND DIVING participating in a variety of activities-often illicit

AS TIGHT AS A DUCK'S GLASS stingy

WET ONE'S BEAK to drink a beverage

BY FAIR MEANS OR FOWL to win by any means possible

RULE THE ROOST be the boss

TAKE A GANDER take a look (literally by stretching one's neck in manner of a duck)

BIRDS OF A FEATHER FLOCK TOGETHER people of similar behavior/appearance tend to hang out together

ALL DUCK OR NO DINNER all or nothing

RUFFLE A FEW FEATHERS shake things up

FLOCK TO IT! Yalla! Hurry up!

a duck hook?
What is a duck hook we hear you cry?! Well, dear friends, a duck hook is a shot that curves hard to the left of your target, if you are a right-handed golfer... and like a great pub it almost always gets a golfer into some kind of trouble.
